MANJUNATH KRISHANPUR, University of Toronto
Random matrix-valued analytic functions

We introduce the notion of singular points of random matrix-valued analytic functions and present some exact results as well as asymptotic results on the distribution of singular points. The former lead to some determinantal processes in the hyperbolic plane, while the latter lead to certain generalizations of the circular law.